Dear Ms Vinnedge,

Thank you for your letter of May 5, 2010, addressed to our CEO Mr. Paul Bulcke.

Your concern about the usage of aborted fetal cell lines has been taken very serious in our internal discussions. Therefore, we would like to confirm to you that Nestlé does not use any aborted fetal cells in any production of its food products. In fact, Nestlé does not use any genetically engineered food additives from Senomyx in any of its foods.

I would like to thank you for having contacted us and hope this answers your question.

Yours sincerely,

NESTLÉ S.A.
